GET LOST IN THE PAST
TRAVEL BACK IN TIME!

Ride through history just by reading a book. Historical fiction takes readers on an exciting journey back to a certain event, time, or historical person. This brochure can help students in grades 4-6 find just the right adventure.

A GOOD PLACE TO START

Ask for this book at the Juvenile Reference Desk located on the first floor. It lists books by topic and has information about authors.

Catalog and database computers are to your left entering the library on the first floor.

CATALOG: Basic Search by subject for HISTORICAL FICTION JUVENILE or HISTORICAL FICTION YOUNG ADULT

DATABASES: Do a basic search for HISTORICAL FICTION in either of these databases:

- KidsSearch
- PrimarySearch

These databases will have articles about historical fiction such as book reviews, or interviews with authors. Some examples of articles are:

“Writing from the Heart: Karen Cushman interview.” Cricket, June 1997, 42.

A handicapped boy has heroic courage fighting to save a friend’s castle in fourteenth century England.

BOOKS

This book follows the life of a twelve-year-old Japanese-American boy imprisoned at an internment camp during World War II.

BROWSE

Books are on the first floor, against the back wall under the Call Number “J” and upstairs against the right wall under the Call Number “YA.” They are arranged alphabetically by author.

Some authors to browse:
- Armstrong, William H.
- Lewis, Elizabeth Foreman
