Please join us at the 9th Annual UH Mānoa Faculty Institute for Engaged Scholarship and Service Learning

November 18, 2011, 9:30am to 2pm
UHM, Campus Center, Executive Dining Room

TO HAVE A FUTURE ... SUSTAINABILITY AND THE STEM DISCIPLINES IN THE HAWAIIAN CONTEXT
CIVIC ENGAGEMENT AND LIBERAL EDUCATION IN THE SOCIAL AND NATURAL SCIENCES

The Institute will feature speakers from educational institutions, organizations, and the community with experience in innovative practices of integrating service learning, civic engagement, and liberal education with science, technology, engineering, and math (STEM) across the social and natural sciences disciplines.

PROGRAM

9:00 am: Registration begins
9:30 am: Welcome and introductions. Overview of ongoing projects. Recent theoretical development and best practices.
10:00 am: PANEL 1 - The STEM disciplines in the Native Hawaiian and local context.
            By leaders and participants in existing projects.
11:30 am: WORKING LUNCH. Discussions. Opportunities for networking.
12:30 pm: PANEL 2 - Bridging the disciplines – experiences with 2011 summer bridges by leaders of bridge projects linked to the Hawai‘i Pacific Islands Campus Compact Initiative, Oceanic EcosySTEMs. The projects aimed at deepening students’ understanding of and engagement in current and future environmental, energy, and health challenges – thereby creating opportunities and excitement for science, technology, engineering, and math – inspiring the bridge projects’ participants (from middle school to college level) to help redesign their communities and their futures.
1:55 pm: Closing

For updates, please see http://www2.hawaii.edu/~csssl/

Join us all day - or come when you can - leave when you have to. No fee.

Please email Dr. Ulla Hasager, Civic Engagement Specialist for the UHMānoa College of Social Sciences/Program Assistant Willy Kauai at csssl@hawaii.edu for more information.

Please email Denise Pierson HIPICC State Network Director, at dpierson@hawa.edu to register. Deadline for registration Monday 11/14 2 pm.

Sponsored by the University of Hawai‘i at Mānoa College of Social Sciences & the UH Service Learning Program and Hawai‘i Pacific Islands Campus Compact