LIS 693: Multicultural Resources for Library Services

This is a general syllabus for LIS 693. Students: refer to syllabus for semester in which you are enrolled.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
LIS 693, is an elective, special topics course which employs critical inquiry methods in a seminar setting to explore a variety of literature, materials, and online resources targeted towards diverse user populations in libraries and other educational organizations. Students will assess a variety of materials geared towards cultural heritage, gender preference, ethnicity, sexual orientation, and mobility needs. Students will learn theoretical models for cultural competency as a means to learn and understand the multiple identities library patrons, students, and colleagues encompass within library settings. Prerequisite: None; however, successful completion of LIS 601 will greatly enhance your competency in navigating this course.

COURSE RATIONALE
With social media and digital technology now a part of our daily lives, we are all living in a diverse, global village, exposed to cultures from all over the world. Heightened accessibility to various technologies has widened as well, thus our ideas about what it means to be “diverse” and sharing “culture” has widened to include cross-pollinating populations of shared heritage, ethnicity, age, orientation, mobility, and more. Whether face to face or online, an important professional competency that librarians need as information professionals, is reflective sensitivity, concern, and cultural competency for working with diverse literatures, cultures, and populations.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS
Via a 100% online pedagogical approach, the culture of this class is unique. Thus, the following points are important for your understanding:

• Course materials are presented to appeal to a broad audience in a collaborative environment. Depending on your sensibilities, wording and tone of instructions may at times sound elementary, redundant or abrupt; however, this is not the intent. The intent of repeating instructions and/or responses is to render instructions in as detailed and as clear of a manner, as possible, for a diverse learning community.
• It is anticipated that you possess the professional expectations and computer literacy skills competencies per the stipulations of the UHM LIS Program.
• It is anticipated that you adhere to on-time submission of all assignments, including online discussions.
• It is anticipated that as a graduate level student, you comply with the university’s academic integrity policy.
• Beyond in-class time, total workload (readings, writings, research, etc.) for this course will take at least 8 to 10 hours per week.

Note: Aspects of this course are subject to change, at the discretion of the Instructor.
Any modifications will be announced and documented in a timely fashion in-class, via Laulima, and email.

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES
This is an elective course. As such, the course approaches various aspects of each of the UHM LIS program’s student learning outcomes (SLOs):
SLO 1: Understand, apply and articulate the history, philosophy, principles and ethics of library and information science and the related professions.
SLO 2: Develop, administrate, assess, and advocate for information services by exercising principled communication, teamwork and leadership skills.
SLO 3: Organize, create, archive, preserve, retrieve, manage, evaluate, and disseminate information resources in a variety of formats.
SLO 4: Evaluate and use the latest information technologies, research findings and methods.
SLO 5: Engage in projects and assignments dealing with multicultural communities and representing diverse points of view.

COURSE CONTENT
Principal topics approached in this course include:
- Reading, evaluating, and reviewing text/materials/resources from multiple cultures
- Self-reflection and self-assessment of multi-cultural identity constructs
- Identification of user groups in various library settings
- Determining established cultural competency models in LIS and the humanities
- Exploring resources targeted to diverse user populations
- LIS professional identity and literacy practices
- Globalization and cultural inclusion

TEACHING PHILOSOPHY
This course emphasizes the development of professional attitudes, knowledge, and skills critical for understanding and embracing diverse approaches for planning and actualizing professional librarian practices. The broad goal of the course is to help students acquire the ability to take a reflective stance towards ways in which the enact collection development, reference interviewing, and public services within librarianship.

TEACHING METHODS
This course is taught using a variety of pedagogical approaches, including but not limited to: seminar discourse, lectures, videos, website evaluations, collaborative problem-solving, online discussions, written examinations, and guest speakers.

RESEARCH METHODS
This course focuses on how the information professional uses established resources to examine professional practices and to fulfill information seeker needs. Research methods include ethnography, practitioner inquiry, case studies and critical evaluation. A key component to the course is the taking of an inquiry stance to explore practices engaged for retrieval of resources and the information within them.

Note: Aspects of this course are subject to change, at the discretion of the Instructor.
Any modifications will be announced and documented in a timely fashion in-class, via Laulima, and email.

REQUIRED MATERIALS. There is no required textbook for this course. Instead, readings will come from a variety of library reserve chapters, LIS scholarly articles, web resources, fiction and non-fiction works. Note: Be sure to read the “Course Reading Schedule” and the “Assignment Guidelines” for details on the course materials. These documents are addendum to this syllabus and are listed in the “Resources” sector on Laulima.

Scholarly/Professional Literature. Weekly topics will be conceptually framed in accordance with assigned scholarly and professional literature to read, think about, write about, and discuss via your writing assignments and on Laulima forums. It is also anticipated that in addition to the assigned readings that you will independently read, cite, and discuss relevant texts to add to class discourse.

Multicultural Literature. This course features weekly reading and review of multicultural literature as an immersive means of learning more about diverse populations within the LIS environment. This portion of this course is structured as an individual reading program where you will read a diverse array of assigned texts that reflect various cultural experiences. While it is impossible to offer a complete representation of cultural groups, this reading program provides a lens through which you can gain a heightened appreciation for varied human experiences and apply your reading and learning responses to composing a professional artifact that reflects your overall approach to the intent of this course.

Any additional WEEKLY ARTICLES will be made available through the Resources section of the Laulima course system (https://laulima.hawaii.edu). If you are enrolled in this course, a tab for LIS693 should be readily accessible via your Laulima interface.

Other Requirements:

- Use of UHM email
- UHM Hamilton Library research tools
- Web-based logon online resources as introduced and required
- Hawaii State Public Library System (HSPLS) library card

TECHNOLOGY REQUIREMENTS
As this is a 100% online course, you are required to have reliable computer equipment and high speed internet connection. Lack of computer connection is not an excuse for not being fully present for a graduate level, online course. Additionally, your UHM email address must be used for all course-related correspondence, and Laulima is to be accessed as the gateway to all course material and class discourse. As a UHM LIS student, you should be independently competent in using word processing and presentation software to produce your work.

COPYRIGHT NOTICE
Materials used in this course are copyrighted and used within the legal guidelines of the U.S. Copyright Act (1976), and its accompanying updates and doctrines, which includes the TEACH Act (2002) and the Fair Use Doctrine (17 U.S.C. § 107). Course materials are for class and student reference and use, only. Course alumni’s projects may be presented as course material to demonstrate formatting and content requirements for various assignments. At no time are you permitted to further copy nor distribute course materials (instructor’s nor course alumni’s) without express written consent of your Instructor.

Note: Aspects of this course are subject to change, at the discretion of the Instructor.
Any modifications will be announced and documented in a timely fashion in-class, via Laulima, and email.

LIS 693 is an elective course within the UHM LIS Program curriculum, and as such, its agenda aligns with the Program’s vision, values and mission which are rooted within the Hawaiian values of aloha, ‘ohana, and kuleana. With these values in mind, the following policies are anticipated for all LIS 693 students:

Laulima. In LIS 693, Laulima is used as the course management system for facilitating this online course, as well as to email updates and announcements, and to post your assignment grades. You will be using Laulima to access all course information and to submit your assignments. Thus, it is your kuleana to correctly and effectively navigate Laulima. You will need your UH ID and password to access the Laulima portal.

Professionalism and Class Participation. The Forums area is the driving force of this online course. As such, it is vital that you fully participate in class by checking in daily and being diligent to responding to your classmate-colleagues’ posts. (Be sure to read the Assignment Guidelines for the Forums, available via: Laulima >> Syllabus.) Professionalism involves taking kuleana for your interactions and communications with your classmate-colleagues, teaching assistant(s), and Instructor. Class participation includes exhibiting aloha in all in-class, out-of-class (including office hours and phone calls), and online (including email) communications concerning this course, and is graded accordingly. Refer to the Professional Expectations Notice and UHM LIS’s requirements for student Computer Literacy Skills for details on the prerequisite technical and professional competencies you need in order to successfully experience this course.

Emailing Professor Irvin. I receive a lot of college and university-related email, plus professional email from various places all over the world. So when you email me use your UH email only, putting the correct course number in the email subject line so that I receive your query as student email, and can give your needs the proper priority. This stipulation is very important. If you don't do this, your email will likely be missed. This should be done consistently throughout the course, even as we get to know one another.

For example,

From: youremailaddress@hawaii.edu
Subject field: LIS 693: Question about Reading Log #1

Additionally, be sure that your emails are professional in tone and presentation, especially because email becomes an important part of your coursework. Established guidelines for composing professional emails are located at: https://www.training.nih.gov/writing_professional_e-mail. I am offline on the weekends, so if you email me during the weekend, expect a delay in response. Lastly, due to the nature of the projects in this course, unless otherwise requested, I do not accept assignments via email.

Submitting Assignments. You are responsible for the correct and on-time submission of your work; this includes being familiar with how Laulima works. Assignments are due by 11:59 PM Hawaii Time, on the date due, unless otherwise specified. Late assignments are subject to a 20% deduction off your earned score, and forfeits Instructor feedback. (I do not grant extensions so please do not ask). If you cannot submit your assignment by the date due, inform your Instructor in as much advance as possible. Late and/or incorrectly submitted assignments go to the bottom of my grading queue, thus, if you submit late, expect a delay in communications and response. Note: I do not accept assignments by email.

KOKUA | Disability Access Services. Any student who feels s/he may need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability is invited to contact me privately. I would be happy to work with you, and the KOKUA Program (Office for Students with Disabilities) to ensure reasonable accommodations in my course. KOKUA can be reached at (808) 956-7511 or (808) 956-7612 (voice/text) in room 013 of the Queen Lili'uokalani Center (QLC) for Student Services. All KOKUA accommodations are confidential. Special accommodations cannot be made unless documented via KOKUA.

Note: Aspects of this course are subject to change, at the discretion of the Instructor.

Any modifications will be announced and documented in a timely fashion in-class, via Laulima, and email.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND HONESTY

In keeping with the American Library Association's Code of Ethics (2008), the UHM LIS Program expects its students to conduct themselves in a respectful, responsible, ethical, and professional manner. To this end, the department applies the university's Academic Integrity Policy with vigor.

Additionally, due to the significance of copyright within the realm of library and information science (LIS), the UHM LIS Program anticipates your compliance to its professional expectations. In turn, this course adheres to established copyright, internet, and intellectual property standards. Assignment instructions must be followed to the letter for the copyright protection of yourself, the LIS Program, the university, and any outside entities that you may be working with as a part of this course. Successful execution of all copyright/intellectual property standards counts significantly towards your assignment scores/grades. The first incidence of plagiarism, academic dishonesty, or academic impropriety results in an automatic score of “0” for the assignment in question and possible reportage to the Graduate Dean. Additional incidences of plagiarism and/or academic dishonesty results in a failing course grade of “F” and required reportage to the Graduate Dean.

General Grading Rubric. Unless otherwise specified, grading for assignments is on a point-for-percentage basis, and typically based on the following criteria:

Ø Originality and depth of ideas, insights and professional assessments
Ø Demonstrated ability to use scholarly sources to support ideas and opinions
Ø Compliance with course criteria and standards
Ø Fulfillment of all requirements for particular assignment
Ø Timeliness of submission (submitting too early can be just as bad as submitting too late)

Note: Aspects of this course are subject to change, at the discretion of the Instructor. Any modifications will be announced and documented in a timely fashion in-class, via Laulima, and email.

ASSESSMENT

Grading Scale. A point-for-percentage evaluation scale is used to assess class assignments and projects in accordance with the university grading system as detailed below. To arrive at your final course grade, all assignment and class participation scores are tabulated to a cumulative final score. The final score is correlated into a letter grade, using a standard point-for-percentage evaluation in accordance with the university grading system. Per university policy, a final grade of “C” and above is considered “passing” for graduate level courses, however, per LIS program policy, a GPA of 3.0 is required for continued registration and graduation from the LIS program. This means that you must pass LIS courses with a final grade of “B-” or higher to be considered as “passing” in the LIS program.

Assessment. Successful application of class discourse and course material includes, but is not limited to: critical thinking and insight exhibited in discussion posts and reading logs, keen observations in your fieldwork, and respect for academic honesty standards and intellectual property. Other competencies may be in focus according to rubrics and checklists for major assignments.

Assignment grade weights:
- Weekly Discussion Forums (6): 30 points / %
- Optional Discussion Forums (2): 10 points / %
- Cultural Self-Assessment Narrative (I & II): 20 points / %
- Multicultural Reading Log Project: 40 points / %
- Class Participation: 10 points / %

Total: 110 points / %

Extra Credit. Extra credit is not available for this course, no exceptions.

Incompletes. Incomplete grades (INC) are issued at the professor’s discretion and will be granted very rarely and only in extreme cases, after the student has worked with the professor to try to complete the work during the term. An INC contract form must always be accompanied with medical and/or other acceptable documentation to substantiate the request. You must be passing this class with a grade of B- or higher after having successfully completed at least 80% of the course (up to week 14 of the term) in order to qualify to request consideration of an INC grade. Students should email the professor as soon as they realize they are having trouble completing work on time to try to avoid requesting an INC. Note that the decision whether or not to allow an INC is up to the professor, not the student, and in most cases, requests for INCs will be denied.

Important: If you have questions about your scores or grading, kindly email your Instructor at irvinn@hawaii.edu.
