

Please print out the following figures and label parts. You have a prokaryotic cell (bacterium) and two eukaryotic cells (plant and animal). The idea is to be able to identify each part and understand their location and function inside a cell. Do is as many times as you wish until you know all parts.

