The screenshot shows a Blogger comment form for the post "La globalización". At the top, it says "Post a Comment On: Span202-7-La globalización" and "No comments yet. - Show Original Post". The main heading is "Leave your comment". Below this is a text area with a red instruction: "Copy your text from Word here once you have spell checked it." Below the text area, there are instructions: "You can use some HTML tags, such as , , ". Below these instructions is the word "irotboe" in a blue font. Underneath is a "WORD VERIFICATION" section with a text input field and a blue accessibility icon. Below that is a "Sign In with your Google Account" section with "USERNAME" and "PASSWORD" input fields. There is a link "Sign up here" and a note "You can also use your Blogger account." Below the sign-in section is a checkbox "Email follow-up comments to my Google account's address". At the bottom are two buttons: "PUBLISH YOUR COMMENT" (orange) and "PREVIEW" (blue). Red circles highlight the word verification field, the sign-in fields, and the publish/preview buttons. Red arrows point from the text instructions to the corresponding form elements.

5 Enter the word you see above

6a IF you have a Google account, enter your user name and password

6b if you DO NOT have a Google account, click here and open an account, it is free.

7a If you have an account you can then either preview and edit your text or go ahead and publish it.
