CASTING CALL

Looking for enthusiastic people who are interested in working on a short student film project.

Jii-chan, an old stubborn Japanese man, longs to catch the Mahi-Mahi fish of his dreams. The only problem is he’s trapped in an outpatient care home with Frankie, a younger roommate he cannot stand. Drama heats up when Frankie accuses Jii-chan of being a fraud and challenges the sick old man to attempt a dangerous fishing trip that threatens his life. Can these two opposite personalities come together to catch the biggest Mahi in the sea?

Characters:
1) MR. TAKAYAMA - a small 50 to 60-year-old Japanese man that believes he is the expert on everything fishing related. He is a stubborn old man even when his life is threatened.
2) FRANKIE – a short 18 to 20-year-old boy that finds older people annoying. He is spunky and self-reliant boy that doesn’t know how to connect to people.
3) NURSE SARA – a 25 to 35-year-old woman tries to keep the peace between the two roommates while trying to help them recover.
4) NOHOKAI – a muscular 28 to 35-year-old local male nurse works to help Nurse Sara.
